Hinton Probes Khrushchev's Fall

"WORKING ON MY theory concerning the relationship be-tween Khrushehev's fall and the Sino-Soviet split was like recon-structing a murder without a body," explained Harold C. Hin-ton, associate professor of inter-national affairs and a member of the Institute for Sino-Soviet studies.

In his book, Communist China and World Politics (to be published at the end of this year), an entire chapter is devoted to the Sino-Soviet-Khrushchev relationship. Because of the complexity of the factors involved, it took Dr. Hinton over a month to compile the data for this chapter.

Basically, the reasoning in the Basically, the reasoning in the reasoning in the these lines: in 1964 it became apparent that Khrushchev was upset about the approach of the Communist Chinese nuclear test. His direct relations with China, both personal and public, became steadily worse. Khrushchev decided that he would destroy the Chinese nuclear installations after the test. To prevent this disastrous action by China, Khrushchev was overthrown. Hinton pointed out that the Chinese tested their bomb the day after Khrushchev was removed from power. Furthermore, the pro-Khrushchev Russian Chief of Staff was killed in a plane crash only four days afterward and the Russian government prohibited any investigation of the crash.

I know, I'm the only one to

Dr. Hinton was recently asked to give testimony on this subject before the House Subcommittee for Far Eastern Affairs.

Regarding the war in Viet-nam, he noted that the situa-tion is "critical, but not desperate.

"The United States has a reasonable chance of succeeding—the Victoria have been taking high casualties, the Saigon government has lasted four months, and no Buddhist monks have burned themselves to death late-ly." He added, though, that if the U.S. fails in Vietnam, the effect will have a serious im-pact on the African nations.

As far as the recent Dominican crisis is concerned, Professor Hinton observed: "The United States is always seen as the rich bully of the world and we are therefore criticized heavily in whatever we do. We have got to stop trying to be loved by everybody—this is an impossible task for someone in our situation."

Dr. Hinton did his undergradute and graduate work in his-tory at Harvard. After receiv-ing his doctorate in 1951, he traveled to the United Kingdom on a senior research fellowship. Between 1952 and 1953, he lec-tured at Oxford University.

Before coming to the University, he taught at Harvard. Columbia, Georgetown, the School for Advanced International Studies of Johns Hopkins, and Trinity. In addition, Dr. Hinton has served as a consultant to the Rand Corporation, the United States Information Agency, and the Institute for Defense Analysis. He began teaching fulltime in February of last year in the Sino-Soviet Institute.

The Ideal President . . .

ALMOST A YEAR has passed since the death of University President Thomas H. Carroll, and, despite the extremely capable work of Acting-President Oswald S. Colclough, a permanent replacement is sorely needed.

permanent replacement is sorely needed.

Too often in the last year have important decisions and programs been deferred due to the lack of a permanent president. Too often have we heard the refrain that private foundation grants are difficult to obtain without a president who can lend stability and continuity to the University.

Indeed, a great president is a necessity for building a great university. He must be able to make the three segments of a university—the administration, the faculty and the students—into a unified whole rather than dissident parts. As an ex-officio member of the Board of Trustees and the University Senate and as the ultimate "ear" for student complaints and suggestions, the ideal president must command a genuine respect from all these groups in order for them all to work toward their common aims and objectives. them all to work toward their common aims and objectives.

Athletics?

To the Editor:

. I WAS PLEASED to read the HATCHET editorial which supported the very sensible recommendation of the University Senate regarding the abolition of intercollegiate football. The reasons given for the action are clear and persuasive and speak for themselves.

Two types of criticism have been made by opponents of the recommendation. The first type, ented by the inane statement about the loss of pep ral-lies can be dismissed without comment. If the Student Councilpresident is not rather embared over his remark, he ought

The second argument is at least more reasonable, if still as unfounded. These critics proclaim the coming death of all athletic activity on the campus if football is abolished. Membership in the Southern Conference may be dependent upon the University's continued subsidy of a football team.

However, many other colleges.

However, many other colleges, growing impatient with a similar waste of financial resources, have cut out their football teams and are still able to participate in a wide variety of other sports on a regular schedule. Is this impossible for GW?

impossible for GW?

Perhaps the best indication as to how well a University is supporting athletics is not how good a football team it fields, but how many students participate in organized intramural sports and individual exercise. Does this University have playing fields, swimming pools and gymnasiums to accommodate a significant number of students participating in a wide range of activities?

If the University supported in a wide range of activities?

If the University supported and encouraged a vigorous athletic program based on extensive participation, the student body would benefit as a whole. School spirit (whatever that means outside an academic context) would benefit more from an athletic program based on participation than on "spectatorship." We cannot, of course, expect a tuition cut, but we might have the satisfaction of paying for usable facilities.

The Student Council has taken a strong stand against abolition, and since it can claim to represent a fair number of students on general issues, its position carries some authority. I write this letter because I believe that there are many students who support the faculty's recommendation. It is my hope that these students will make their voices heard on this issue, and that the trustees will not interpret the Council's position as the sole stu-

LE/AP on Football ...

To the Editor:

. THE FOLLOWING LETTER was sent to the Board of Trus-tees on May 14 as a statement of concern of the members of the Liberal Education/Action Project.

"The recent University Senate resolution advocating the abolishment of intercollegiate football at the University has aroused much controversy among students. Speaking for the Liberal Education/Action Project of the United Christian Fellowship, we would like to express our concern for the manner in which this decision is being arrived at.

"We dealone the fact that the

"We deplore the fact that the student body has no access to information concerning the fi-nancial status of intercollegiate athletics, particularly football.

"Therefore, until students are better informed and until they have been further consulted, we urge you to withhold your final decision on the future status of intercollegiate football.

"Next fall, at the first University forum, a resolution will be introduced calling for athletic de-emphasis. LE/AP will be investigating the football issue over the summer, but is not yet prepared to take a final position until the issues and opinions have been broadly communicated.

"We feel that in this instance the underlying issue is not the question of football itself, but rather one of a lack of communication between the Administration and the students. Thus, as representatives of one ment of the student body, hope you will take this s ment into consideration."

• THE SYCAMORE TREE behind the library in the University Yard might have written a ory of the University to rival Dean Kayser's. It's been here as as anyone can remember, and the University annually provides it with $300 to $500 worth of medicare to keep it here.

About the time the current freshman class was born, campus legends included the following in a 1947 booklet: "Students say studying under the big sycamore tree brings good luck on ex-aminations." Depending on the veather, studying under the tree probably brings better luck on spring finals than on January

The tree was a favorite of Cloyd H. Marvin, University president for thirty years. He used to threaten Joseph Mello, supervisor of grounds, jokingly saying, "When that tree goes, you go."

The tree is pruned, sprayed three times a year against Anthracnose fungus, and watered at night. It is fed high-nitrogen fertilizer through holes, 250 of them, that are drilled yearly throughout the Yard. It is thinned out and its leaves are raked when needed.

Because of this care, said Mello, the tree survived a blight that damaged or destroyed over seventy per cent of the District's sycamore trees a few years ago.

Mello estimated its age at seventy to eighty years. There used to be row houses facing H St., and the tree was most likely in the back yard of one of these homes. It is aging, and braces protect the branches from the weight of snow.

TESTS, AND HOW THEY GREW

Just the other night I was saying to the little woman, "Do you think the importance of tests in American colleges is being overemphasized?" (Incidentally, the little woman is not, as you might think, my wife. My wife is far from a little woman. She is, in fact, nearly seven feet high and mantled with rippling muscles. She is a full-blooded Ogallala Sioux and holds the world's shot put record. The little woman I referred to is someone we found crouching under the sofa when we moved into our apartment back in 1928, and there she has remained ever since. She never speaks except to make a kind of guttural clicking sound when she is hungry. To tell you the truth, she's not too much fun to have around the house, but with my wife away at track meets most of the time, at least it gives me someone to talk to. But I digress. "Do you think the importance of tests in American colleges is being overemphasized?" I said the other night to the little woman, and then I said, "Yes, Max, I do think the importance of tests in American colleges is being overemphasized." (As I explained, the little woman does not speak, so when we have conversations, I am forced to do both parts.)

But I digress. To get back to tests—sure, they're important, but let's not allow them to get loo important. There are, after all, many talents which simply can't be measured by quizzes. Is it right to penalize a gifted student whose gifts don't happen to fall into an academic category? Like, for instance, Finster Sigaloos?

Finster, a freshman at the Wyoming College of Belles Lettres and Fingerprint Identification, has never passed a single test; yet all who know him agree he is studded with talent-like a ham with cloves. He can, for example, sleep standing up. He can do a perfect imitation of a scarlet tanager. (I don't mean just the bird calls; I mean he can fly south in the winter.) He can pick up BB's with his toes. He can say "toy boat" three times fast. He can build a rude telephone out of 100 yards of string and two empty Personna Stainless Steel Razor Blade packages. (This last accomplishment is the one Finster is proudest of—not building the telephone but emptying the Personna packs. To empty a Personna pack is not easily accomplished, believe you me, not if you're a person who likes to get full value out of his razor blades. And full value is just what Personnas deliver. They last and last and keep on lasting; luxury shave follows luxury shave in numbers that make the mind boggle. Why don't you see for yourself? Personnas are now available in two varieties: a brand-new stainless steel injector blade for users of injector razors—and the familiar double-edge stainless steel blade so dear to the hearts and kind to the kissers. users of injector razors—and the familiar double-edge stainless steel blade so dear to the hearts and kind to the kissers of so many happy Americans, blades so smooth-shaving, so long-lasting that the Personna Co. makes the following guarantee: If you don't agree Personna gives you more luxury shaves than Beep-Beep or any other brand you might name, Personna will buy you a pack of whatever kind you think is better.)

But I digress. Back to Finster Sigafoos—artist, humanist, philosopher, and freshman since 1939. Will the world ever benefit from Finster's great gifts? Alas, no. He is in college to stay.

benefit from Finster's great and to stay.

But even more tragic for mankind is the case of Clare de Loon. Clare, a classmate of Finster's, had no talent, nogifts, no brains, no personality. All she had was a knack for taking tests. She would cram like mad before a test, always get a perfect score, and then promptly forget everything she had learned. Naturally, she graduated with highest honors and degrees by the dozen, but the sad fact is that she left college no more educated and no more prepared to cope with the world than she was when she entered. Today, a broken woman, she crouches under my sofa.

ROTC won the toss of the coin and decided to bat last. The first batter up for the Phi Sigs was Murray Levy, who lined the first pitch into left. Next up, Joel Shulman layed one down the third base line and no play was made. One out later, hitter Paul Kravitz lashed a line drive, but great reflexes turned it into a rally-killing double play.

The game continued at a rapid pace. In the early going, ROTC showed great scoring potential, but in inning after iming Shulman retired the side with men in scoring position.

In the third and fourth innings, Phi Sigma Delta locked up the game with two three-run outbursts. The final score was 8-0.

The Colonials' overall record is 9-7. Conference standings are still incomplete pending games elsewhere in the area, but Furman, with firm control of first place, will represent the Conference at the NCAA Regionals, where it will open against a powerful Maryland team.

Camp Expects

• WITH THE HELP of 25 let-termen, Coach Jim Camp has high hopes of fielding one of the finest football teams in the his-tory of GW this fall in the 1965-season. Nine members of the starting defensive unit and seven starters from the offensive unit promise to form a strong nucleus for the team.

The entire defensive backfield, led by All-Southern Conference Fred D'Orazio, will be returning along with five linemen who are led by All-Southern Conference tackle Doug McNeil.

e HOMETOWN FAVORITE Davidson won the Southern Conference Tennis Tournament, defeating the Colonials by one point after the three-day event which took place on May 10-12. The Wildcats completed the tourney with 28 points, to 27 for GW and 25 for tournament favorite The Citadel.

The Buff and the Wildcats met in six head-to-head matches on May 11 but the schools were unable to break the tie when each school finished the day with 24 points. The Citadel continued to breathe down the necks of the leaders with 23 points.

Major changes which will take place this fall will include the moving of McNeil to guard to use full advantage of the senior's speed and the moving of wingback Mike Holloran to tailback in order to give this fine runner more opportunity to handle the ball.

Stu Leventhal suffered the only Colonial defeat in singles play in the semi-finals when George Mueller of Davidson prevailed, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3.
